More Testimony.

Thomas E. Dedell testified that he stamped a postal card which Gillette wrote to Mrs. Hoage at Courtland. Dedell is a railway mail clerk. He said the card must have been written on the train between Tupper lake and Big Moose. The card was offered in evidence. It asked Mrs. Hoage to send $25 to East Bay so that Gillette could get it on Friday. The card was signed on Friday.

This was offered to show that Gillette planned to be at Eagle Bay on Friday under his own name while still traveling on Thursday with Grace Brown under an assumed name.

James McAllister, bus driver at the Glen Moore hotel, at Big Moose, testified to meeting Gillette and Miss Brown on the arrival of a morning train from the north and how the girl said that she and Gillette wanted to get out again that same night.

"Did she say, 'I go, or 'We'll go'?" asked the defending lawyer.

She said "We'll go."

McAllister said that Miss Brown said that she was tired out by the time of the arrival of the 11 o'clock train. He did not see Miss Brown alive again. When next saw Gillette it was after the arrest.

Her Last Postal.

McAllister was put through a sharp cross examination. Lawyer Thomas first asked him if he had been intoxicated during the past week and upon receiving a reply in the negative, Mr. Thomas asked McAllister if he had made boasts about being able to help the district attorney if he did not have enough to convict.

"I don't mean saying any such thing," said the witness.

"Didn't you say so in a Herkimer barber shop?"

"I don't remember."

"That's as strong as you want to make it?"

"Yes."

A postal card that Grace Brown sent home on the day of her fatal boat ride was offered in evidence. The card:

"Dear Mother:—Am having a lovely time. Don't worry. Will write you more tonight about the trip. It was rather unexpected, but I am glad we are here. Love to all the girls."

"BILLY."

Huge Four Thousand
Pound Cap.

By Associated Press.

New Martinsville, W. Va., Nov. 21.—Geo. Wilson and Arthur Stepleton, oil workers, narrowly escaped death last night in a remarkable accident. The two men had cleaned an oil well and were putting the cap, which weighed 4,000 pounds back on the well. Their tool accidentally slipped, causing the cap to fall on their hands. Oil and gas began to escape, threatening both men with asphyxiation. With a mighty jerk, Stepleton released his hand tearing three fingers off. Almost dead, Stepleton released Wilson and both men fell unconscious from pain and in halting the escaping gas. They will recover, but their hands were badly crushed and will have to be amputated.

Have Made.

WOMAN DISAPPEARS.

Search For Her By New York Police Has Been Quite Futile.

In Her Absence, Detective
Cain Will Lead in the Prosecution.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 21.—Thorough preparations were made by the police department and counsel representing Enrico Caruso, the famous tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company for a hearing in police court this afternoon of the charge that Caruso annoyed a woman in the monkey house at Central park one day last week. Notwithstanding what happened to be an earnest search for the woman whom Caruso is alleged to have annoyed, reports of both the police and the defense declared that they had been unable to find her.

In the absence of the witness, Detective Cain, who arrested Caruso, is preparing to go on with the case and act as complainant declaring that he witnessed the annoyance of which Mrs. Graham complained.

Director Corried, of the Metropolitan Opera house, has loyally defended Caruso from the charge and the singer himself asserts that he was a victim of extraordinary circumstances or of an attempt to make a false case against him for some unknown purpose.

There have been arrests in the Central park monkey house similar to the charge, on which Caruso is charged, some have escaped with a jail sentence and others have sustained a jail sentence.

Woman Heard From.

Police Captain Stephenson, of the Central Park station said today that he was informed last night by a prominent business man who knows Mrs. Graham that she would not appear in court for anything as she does not want to be snaphot and have her name spread all over the country. Stephenson said that his informant told him that Mrs. Graham was a woman of the very best of character.

Officer Testifies.

New York, Nov. 21.—Officer Cain, the park policeman, who arrested Caruso, was the first witness called. He said he had seen Caruso in the building before and had watched him particularly. In the monkey house he saw Caruso following two girls, one of these girls was about 12 years old. Counsel for Caruso objected to this testimony declaring there was only one woman mentioned in the complaint against the prisoner. The objection was overruled.

"You Brute! You Beast!"

Policeman Cain, who arrested Caruso, gave some sensational testimony. He said that he saw Caruso move up close to Mrs. Graham and he saw one of Caruso's hands glide stealthily through a slit in his overcoat and then he saw Caruso pinch the woman. Mrs. Graham turned quickly and struck Caruso in the chest, crying out:

"You brute! You beast!"

After Mrs. Graham had struck the singer Cain testified that he stepped between the man and woman, and placing his hand on Caruso's shoulder he asked the woman what had happened. She replied that the man had insulted her and that she wanted him arrested. She declared that she would willingly appear against him. She followed along to the police station and swore to the complaint. Caruso said nothing until the station house was reached. Then he protested that his arrest was all a mistake, that he was a gentleman and could not be guilty of such an offense as was charged.

"He pleaded with the woman to withdraw the charge," said Cain. Cain declared that Caruso was treated with all possible consideration. He was kept at the station house about an hour and then was released on bail furnished by Director Corried, of the opera house.

Cain said he did not see Caruso again until today's proceedings in court.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21.—Governor Harris will not issue any "lid" order closing the saloons on Sunday—not immediately, at least. He said today when asked in regard to the matter:

"I do not know what I may do later on," said he, "but at present I have not in mind to take any such action. I will say this, however: I am in hearty accord with Mayor Badger, of Columbus, in the stand he has taken in regard to the enforcement of the laws relating to saloons. In fact I do not think any law should be ignored anywhere, and I should be very glad to see the mayors of other cities and villages in the state take the same stand. But I might as well address letters to the prosecuting attorneys whom I might fear intended to ignore violations of the law, as to send such letters to the mayors."

"Now understand me: I say that I have no intention now of sending out any such order as you suggest. I do not say that I positively will not."

By Associated Press.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—A fatal accident occurred today at the East-man Kodak Works, in which three men were killed, eight seriously injured and six others hurt. One of the dead has been identified as James Burns of Rochester, and another as Jack Cleveland, of Auburn. The men at work on a scaffold near the top of a two-story building which is one of eight buildings in course of construction at Kodak park. It was known as the Emulsion building and was constructed of steel, concrete and brick. A hasty examination of the wreck revealed that the probable cause of the accident was the removal of the supporters of the steel flooring before the concrete had properly set. About twenty workmen were upon the scaffold when the floor gave way. The roof and the walls toppled in with a crash of concrete and heavy steel girders. The men were hurled into the debris, falling about 40 feet. It was known that at least three men were killed while ten were carried to the hospitals in ambulances. As they worked by numbers, the injured cannot be identified until the contractors look up the names and the numbers in their book.

Third Man Identified.

The name of the third man killed in the Kodak accident is B. C. Cas-smock, of Rochester. He was a stone mason.

By Associated Press.

Vienna, Nov. 21.—The investigations of the local police in regard to the movements of Karl Hau, who is held by the London police on the charge of having murdered his mother-in-law, at Baden-Baden, have satisfied themselves that he arrived in Vienna from Constantinople October 17th. They assert that he cashed a check for $2,000 at a Vienna bank on that date but Hau denies this. A few days later a telegram from London, believed to be fictitious, reached the bank asserting that the check had been stolen from Hau. The description of the man who cashed the check answers to Hau.

For three months in the present fiscal year the earnings of the Union Pacific was $1,489,963 greater than for the same three months of last year. If this rate of increase keeps up the earnings of the two Harrimann roads will have an increase of $15,000,000 over last year.

VIRTUAL ADMISSION

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Five of the fourteen ice dealers who were placed on trial in the criminal court here yesterday on the charge of conspiracy to raise the price of ice, today, pleaded nonvult contender and threw themselves upon the mercy of the court. A plea of this character is virtually admission of guilt but carries with it the excuse that the offender had no intention to break the law and had no knowledge that an offense was being committed. Before entering the plea, counsel for the ice men announced to the court that the Philadelphia Ice Exchange through which it was alleged the price of ice was fixed, had been dissolved. Following the entering of the pleas, District Attorney Bell asked the court to direct a verdict of not guilty in the cases of seven of the other defendants. Henry W. Lee, local agent of the American Ice company, of New York, refused to enter the plea, and decided to stand trial. The work of securing a jury was then completed. The following entered the plea of non vult:

Samuel Freer, local agent of the Mountain Ice Co.; Joseph Richardson, John Hancock Ice Co.; John S. Gustine, Standard Ice Manufacturing Co.; J. E. Bircher, Jefferson Ice Manufacturing Co.; John Moore Consolidated Ice Manufacturing Co. These were fined $75 each and costs.

President Roosevelt Sees No Reason For Rescinding
the Order.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The war department issued the following statement today concerning the negro troops ordered dismissed at Ft. Reno:

"In the matter of the order discharging the enlisted men of three companies of the 25th infantry by the president could indicate his wishes. to the secretary of war by a number of persons of standing, asking for a re-hearing by the president of the ground on which the action was taken. The secretary telegraphed the president of the application and delayed the proceedings of the discharge until the president could indicate his wishes. The secretary was in the meantime called out of town. No answer was received from the president. The secretary on his return did not feel justified in further delaying the execution of the order of discharge, especially in view of the fact that the secretary had received from the president and fully considered the argument against the order of the persons who now applied for a re-hearing. Accordingly the secretary directed yesterday (Tuesday) that the proceedings for discharge be continued without delay."

Later Statement.

Later in the day Secretary Taft received a despatch from President Roosevelt and issued the following additional statement:

"A telegram was received from the president at 11 o'clock today after previous statement was given out at the war department in which he declines to suspend the discharge unless there are the facts of such importance as to warrant calling him. He states that the action was taken after due deliberation and that the only matter to which he can pay heed is the presentation of facts showing the official reports to be in whole or in part, clearly exculpatory some individual. If any such facts later appear he can act as he deems advisable but thus far nothing has been introduced to warrant the suspension of the order, and he desired it to be executed."

FLOOD SITUATION LITTLE IMPROVED.

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Nov. 21.—The flood situation as regards the railroads was somewhat improved today in the case of one road, the Southern, which resumed its traffic into Memphis, thus relieving the Frisco of the burden of handling the Southern's traffic. Conditions, however, as far as the Illinois Central and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroads are concerned show no improvement. The Louisville and Nashville have no washouts but the rains have greatly delayed their trains.

The financial loss to the railroads during the past four days has been heavy while business of Memphis has been much interfered with.

During the night the rain fell in torrents, and the rain still continues this morning, although the downfall is not quite so heavy. Street car service is badly crippled.

WILL ADVERTISE AROUND THE WORLD.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 21.—To walk around the world and tell of the coming Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition in every city and village on the way is the proposal of W. F. Fernandez of this city, who left on his journey from the Alaska building. Mr. Fernandez intends to make his living as he goes and expects to arrive in Seattle before the opening day of the fair. He also intends to get the signature of the mayor of every town through which he passes on his journey and exhibit the collection at the fair, along with the newspaper stories written about him. He will also try to get the signatures of the rulers of every country in the world.

In countries where English is spoken he will make speeches in every city and village, telling of the wonders of Alaska, its undeveloped resources and its annual output of gold, and of Washington's climate, its growth, and the prosperity of its people. Lastly he will tell of the plan and scope of the exposition, which will be held in Seattle in 1909. In countries where he is not familiar with the language he will have his speeches translated and put on a phonograph.

Mr. Fernandez must cover over 21,000 miles on foot and average at least twenty-one miles a day. Unless delayed by sickness or accident he will not stay in one town over twenty-four hours. When Mr. Fernandez left the Alaska building today he started south for Tacoma, and from there will go to Oregon and California. He will continue a southerly course until he reaches New Orleans, when he will go north to Chicago, and from thence to New York, where he will embark for Europe.

Mr. Fernandez is a little over 6 feet in height, of athletic build, and is 31 years of age. He has spent the last thirteen years in Washington and Alaska, the resources of which he will advertise on his travels.

RAN OUT OF FUEL, FOOD AND WATER.

Northport, L. I., Nov. 21.—A thirty foot launch, covered with canvas, with two men aboard, was noticed by Capt. Elmore Ketcham of the oyster steamer Edna Chase, drifting helplessly about the sound off Eaton's neck.

Capt. Ketcham steamed alongside the launch and found the supply of gasoline had given out, and the men said they had been drifting about for twenty-four hours. They were nearly famished, as their food and water supply gave out about the same time.

Capt. Ketcham furnished the men with food and anchored their boat for them, leaving them until he returned from work in the afternoon, and then towed them to Eaton's Neck, where they could find gasoline.

The two men did not give their names, but said their boat was a government supply boat and that they had just come from Bar Harbor. They did not explain when asked why, if theirs was a government supply boat, they had no yawl boat with them.

PECULIAR ANTICS OF AN INSANE COOK.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 20.—While hunting and prospecting about the head of Lake Chelan George Francis and Henry Desmond, two Chicago men, had a remarkable experience with their cook, an Irishman, named Burns, who became suddenly insane and disappeared from camp. He was not found for three days, and the party were about to abandon the search on the supposition that he had deserted them when he was discovered by a dog belonging to the party.

Burns was at the bottom of an abandoned mine shaft, four miles west of the camp, and was making an earnest endeavor to starve himself to death. When found Burns refused all assistance. One of the men lowered a flask of liquor and some food to the man by means of a rope. He refused to touch them telling the men to go away and leave him there, as he never wanted to see daylight again. He refused to explain how he got to the bottom of the shaft, which was forty feet deep, and only asked to be left alone.

A messenger, who had been sent back to camp returned with a rope, and this was lowered to Burns, and he was told to fasten it about his body. But instead of doing so he attempted to pull the rope out of the hands of his would-be rescuers. Francis then volunteered to allow himself to be lowered into the pit, but no sooner had he swung over its mouth than Burns began to rave and curse and threaten with death any one who attempted to descend into the shaft, causing Francis to beat a hasty retreat.

A council of war was held, and it was decided to attempt to divert the man's mind from his intention of starving to death. He was asked if he would not prefer to kill himself by shooting and an offer was made to lower him a gun, but Burns refused the proffer, declaring that he had a gun, but that he had a good opportunity to starve himself to death, and this he intended to do. They then began hunting him, hoping to get him so mad that he would want to clamber out of the pit in order to fight, but again they were unsuccessful.

Finally an Indian guide known as "Jim" told the Irishman that the other men were going away, and that they had instructed him to throw stones into the pit until Burns was smashed as flat as a flapjack, as they could not bear to have a man deliberately starve himself to death.

"Jim" then began throwing small stones down the shaft, some of them hitting Burns. This was too much for the cook. While he was resigned to the idea of starving himself to death he declined to be mashed to a pulp, and yelling to the Indian to stop throwing stones at him he signified his willingness to come up. He was first made to attach his gun to the rope, and this being hauled up the cord again was lowered and Burns came to the surface. He was quite weak from the lack of nourishment, but still refused to eat. He was put to bed and the Indian placed over him as guard, a pile of stones by his side. When he awoke, food again was offered him, and upon his again refusing to eat, the Indian went to the rock pile and picking up a handful of dormicks threatened to stone the man. This had the desired effect, and Burns ate heartily. In a couple of days he had sufficiently recovered to leave the camp, the Indian going along as a guard, his pockets filled with rocks.

MISFORTUNE FOR "THIRTEEN" PARTY.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 21.—As the result of a runaway accident near Randolph crossing in Clay county, five young women of Kansas City are seriously injured and seven more are suffering more or less painful bruises. The left arm of Miss Grace Medes, daughter of W. J. Medes, of 430 Prospect avenue, was broken just below the shoulder. Miss Nettie Wells, of Thirty-ninth and Bell streets, also suffered a broken arm. Miss Bessie Daniels, of 2307 Troost avenue, sustained an injured spine. Miss Bainbridge, of 1407 Euclid avenue, sprained her ankle, and in addition suffered several contusions and bruises. Miss May Judson, of Memphis, Tenn., who is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Howard, at Tenth street and Broadway, was injured in the chest, arm and hip. Slight injuries were sustained by Miss Kendall, Miss Houston, and Miss Georgia Hollinger.

These young women, in company with Miss Grace Dunlap, Miss Hayes, Miss Estelle Kendall, Hal Ross, Barto Leimbach, Dr. Percy F. Gallbraith, Lloyd Medes, Dr. E. H. Merwin, Geo. Hall, and others, comprised a party which left Kansas City on a train to enjoy acoon hunt at the Winn farm near Randolph heights. Two wagons met the train and the thirteen young women in the party climbed in a hay rack to be conveyed to the farm four miles distant. Another wagon was used for transporting the baggage and five of the young men. The remaining four young men were placed in the wagon with the girls. The four horses attached to the latter wagon became frightened at the approach of the baggage wagon which attempted to pass them at a narrow place in the road near a deep embankment. The lines broke and the team was beyond control. In turning a curve the wagon was upset and the young women were thrown to the ground. They were given temporary medical attention and brought to their homes by automobile. The uninjured members of the party continued to the hunting ground, bagging two possums and a coon.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmora, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Wm. M. Melville, old postoffice corner.

Dictates a Telegram to Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, President, NOW IN PORTO RICO, Urging That Consideration be Given Labor Conditions There.

By Associated Press. Minneapolis, Nov. 21.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was today instructed to send a telegram in the name of the federation to President Roosevelt at Porto Rico asking him to investigate conditions on the island with a view to giving the islanders self-government and to better the labor conditions on the island. Mr. Gompers dictated the telegram and sent it forthwith. The text of the message follows:

"San Juan, Porto Rico. "American Federation of Labor convention urges you to give consideration, however briefly, while in Porto Rico, to her workers aspirations from improved conditions, local self-government and American citizenship. (Signed) "SAMUEL GOMPERS."

TUGS MAY CARRY POPULACE FREE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 21.—Tugboats can carry passengers without violating the laws if no fare is charged. Officials in some sections of the country have contended it was unlawful for towing vessels to carry any one, but labor just made a ruling to the contrary. This means that towing vessels do not have to take out a "passenger license" to carry persons free of charge. The department made this ruling in the case of the steamer R. L. Aubrey, a towing vessel which was sunk July 7.

The R. L. Aubrey belonged to the People's Coal company of Pittsburg, and was used to carry certain employees of the company, their families and guests upon a pleasure trip up the Ohio river. It struck a rock and went down. The surveyor of customs at Louisville held that the carrying of these persons was a "carrying of passengers," which legally could not be done except under a passenger license and a previous inspection as a "steamer carrying passengers."

The failure to procure such a license was construed therefore by the surveyor of customs to be a violation of section 4,117, R. S., and a fine of $500 was imposed upon the owners of the vessel. An appeal was taken. The department, however, held that the persons on board the towing vessel were not passengers, as they were not being transported for hire, and that it was not a violation of the federal laws.

BILL BOARD SHOWS.

In the bill board shows the heart rending attractions where the heroine is always jumping off a bridge, or doing something else desperate to escape from the dresly looking villain, and where the hero wears penitentiary clothes and is behind iron bars from the last of the first act until the close of the last act, the sidewalk audience, that line up to take in the show, nearly laughed itself to death, but in the funny shows where the scenes are made screamingly laughable by having fat policemen on roller skates, and having the hose turned on a party seated at a dinner table, or having old maids trying to make love to big fat, scared-looking men, the sidewalk audiences look and look, and never crack a smile.

The average bill board show prides itself upon realism, but there is one on the boards now that looks mighty suspicious. The hero is supposed to be drowning, and holds the fainting heroine in his arms. As he is sinking for the last time he makes the following speech: "O God, never have you deserted me in my hour of trial and now, in my need, I call upon you and put my trust in thee." Would a man going down for the last time have time for such a long speech? The patrons of the bill board say the man looks as though he is standing in just about enough water to fill a bath tub, instead of in an ocean full which is the amount of realism the bill board show demands.

A Woman Collector

(Original.) "The firm name was Shirls & Shinn," said the retired hardware dealer, "and we didn't get on from the start. I had a good trade and was obliged to be on the road most of the time. This left the buying to my partner. The trouble was that he wasn't any kind of a buyer. If a salesman came along with a new and better story about a sick wife and a dozen or so starving children Shinn would buy a bill of goods of him whether we wanted them or not. The consequence was that every time I came in I found the stock growing in spite of my efforts to reduce it."

"Well, the result of it all was that weeping drummers finally succeeded in turning the store into a junk shop, and we had to quit. Shinn, as he should have done, offered to stand the loss, giving up all the capital he'd put in, acknowledging that the outcome had been entirely his fault. If I could have closed up at once his money would have been just enough to square us, with no loss to me, but the very day we closed along comes a one-legged commercial traveler he called himself—conspicuous, wheezing through one lung, and Shinn had to order a $500 bill of him. We closed the order out at about 90 cents on the dollar, making a deficiency of $157.42. This Shinn agreed to pay as soon as he was able."

"Shinn was a bachelor and removed from his rooms in an apartment house to a little shanty. I sent a man around to collect his indebtedness, but he came back empty handed. I sent another with orders to be more persistent, and he came back reporting that the door had been slammed in his face. I used to see Shinn occasionally on the street. He looked morose and shabby. One day I saw him give a quarter to a beggar. 'That made me mad. If he had money to give such nuisances he had it to pay his honest debts. I hired a regular fighting collector and sent him round to Shinn's shanty. He came back with his head bandaged up, a black eye and a swelled lip, to say nothing of the loss of a suit of clothes. 'I hired several men in succession to go and get him into the house and stay there till Shinn came down with the funds. The first one that came back reported he'd been thrown out, the second shared the same fate and the third and the fourth and so on likewise."

"Then it occurred to me that I'd send a woman. You see, a man can't fight a woman, and there never was a woman yet that couldn't get the better of a man if she wanted to. There was no woman's collecting agency in the town, so I told several friends of mine that I'd give half the debt to any woman who'd collect it. 'About a month after making the announcement a young, good looking woman came to see me and said she'd heard I wanted a debt collected of Percy Shinn. She didn't look like a business woman at all, but I concluded to try her. So I gave her an order for the money and started her out. 'It was 3 o'clock when she left me, and I waited with a good deal of anxiety to learn how Shinn would meet this new enemy. I expected her back in about an hour. Four o'clock came, but no collector—5, 6, 7, and she didn't show up. In fact, she didn't show up that night nor the next day nor the next nor the next. A week passed, and I began to think Shinn had murdered her. Funny, wasn't it? Every man I sent had come back after having been thrown out; the only woman I sent didn't come back at all. 'Then I fancied maybe the woman had collected the money or a part of it and gone off with it. At the same time it occurred to me that I had supplied omitted to take her address. I concluded to notify the police and started out to do so, but thought I'd take a look on the way at Shinn's house. So I went a roundabout way and brought up opposite the shanty. Somehow it didn't look so tumbledown as before. There were white bolland shades in the windows and a few flowers in the yard in front."

"A woman came out of a house near where I was standing, and I asked her who lived in the house opposite. She said, 'Mr. Shinn.' 'Any one with him?' 'His wife.' 'I didn't know he was married.' 'He wasn't a short time ago. There's a story connected with it. Mr. Shinn owed some old curmudgeon some money and sent a young woman to collect it. She was real smart. She told him she was to get half the amount collected; that she was the only support of a widowed mother and seven brothers and sisters. She gave such a pitiful picture that Shinn, who had been a long while starving himself to pay the debt and had just saved the last penny, went and got it and gave it to her. You see somebody had told her what kind of a man Shinn was. She was so cut up by his lovable manner that she told him to keep the money for all her, and he said he would keep it till his creditor came for it himself. It was one of the quickest matches I ever heard of. They only knew each other a week before they were married."

"This was the story given out. Years after I heard the true one. The woman was an old sweetheart of Shinn's who had refused him. On hearing of his condition she had gone, disguised, ostensibly to collect the money. Knowing his soft spot, she had made up the yarn. Then she threw off her disguise, and there was a circus. 'Yes, I got the money—every cent due. I went for it myself.' HERBERT DOUSMAN.

Lincoln and His Beard.

It has been said that Lincoln was the most perfect person in the world. writes our last column about in San Sebastian, but I don't think any one who really knows them will agree. However, they have some charming little ways, and when they are full of it because they are deep down that ugly selfish. My personal opinion is that the standard is about the most difficult person one can possibly encounter. If you ask your way in the street of some ordinary woman, she will almost certainly go out of her way to accompany you down the street and to carefully put you on the right road. They are very cheerful and gay, but they are never vulgar, as we understand the word in England. Even the men in the streets who stand and frankly stare at a pretty girl do it in a light hearted, pleasant way which does not give offense. As to the manners of Spanish men belonging to the best society, they are almost perfect. Watch a Spaniard of distinction address his mother or any elderly lady and you will see a manner which is tender and caressing and at the same time exquisitely protective. —London Tribune.

An Unexpected Owner.

Nearly all the giddy youth of the neighborhood attended the charity bazaar, and one by one they drifted to a stall where a tiny, shapely, scented gay kid glove reposed on a satin cushion. Attached to the cushion was a notice written in a delicate feminine hand, which ran, "The owner of the glove will, at 7:30 this evening, be pleased to kiss any person who purchases a sixpenny ticket beforehand."

Tickets were purchased by the score, and at 7:30 a long row of sheepskin, not to say glossy, young bloods were assembled outside the stall. Then, punctual to the moment, old Tom Porson, the local pork butcher, who weighs twenty stone and is almost as beautiful as a side of bacon, stepped to the front of the stall. "Now, young gentles," he said in his best "buy, buy, buy," tones, "this 'ere' glove belongs to me. I bought it this morning. Now I'm ready for you. Come on. Don't be bashful. One at a time!"

Hard Water.

A farm woman in Pennsylvania once said to me, "I never hear any one say to me, 'The Old Oaken Bucket' without a shudder." For fifteen years she had done the cooking and washing for a family of six with no other water supply than what she had hauled out of a well nearly thirty feet deep by means of a bucket. Baths in winter were almost out of the question, and even in the summer they were regarded as an occasion of more than ordinary importance, for which preparations had to be made hours ahead of the big event. A cubic foot of water weighs sixty-two and a half pounds, and in all these years the number of tons this woman had lifted had made poetical allusions to "iron bound" and "moose covered" buckets a good deal like saying "rope" to a man about to be hanged.—Farming.

Johnson on Actors.

Although he wrote plays, Johnson claimed not to be fond of players. When Boswell suggested that we might respect a great actor Johnson cried: "What, sir, a fellow who claps a bump on his back and a bump on his legs and cries, 'I am Richard III?' Nay, sir; a ballad singer is a higher man." No doubt Boswell had Garriek in mind when, after hearing Johnson say that he looked on players as no better than dancing dogs, he timidly suggested, "But, sir, you will allow that some players are better than others." "Yes, sir, as some dogs dance better than others."

A Black Mast.

Most trading steamers which wish to study economy and effect have their aft mast painted black. If they did not the mast would soon be sullied by smoke and would look very dirty in consequence. The smoke from the vessel's funnel is carried backward by the forward motion of the vessel, and the mast would look grimy if it was painted any other color than black.

Let Him Right In.

A minister, addressing a meeting of the London Bible society, of which the Marquis of Anglesey was president, said that St. Peter refused to admit the marquis as a peer or as Wellington's old officer or lord lieutenant of Ireland or the leader of the Horse guards at Waterloo, but let him right in as soon as he knew that he was president of the Bible society.

Be First in Attack.

An old Scotch drillmaster, so the story goes, taught his pupils the art of thrusting with the saber until they were quite proficient. "Now teach me to parry," said they. "Oh," said he, "you must do the thrusting and let your enemy do the parrying."

Her Opportunity.

Wife-I had better take that hat for 45 shillings. Husband-But I've only got 12 with me now. I'll have to owe them the odd 5 shillings. Wife-Oh, then, I'll take this one for 3 guineas. Five shillings is too insignificant a sum to owe.

What Saved Him.

Miss Oppen-I will never marry you. Donkelsen-Oh, heavens, I would blow my brains out if we were not in the midst of the busy season and I have so much to do!—Flegende Blätter.

Low and Loud.

He-A woman, I notice, always lowers her voice to ask a favor. She-Yes—and raises her voice if she does not get it.—Illustrated Bits.

HE FORGOT IT

Was Plea of Attorney in Case Today.

Temporary Postponement Allowed in Miller-Guncheon Trial.

JUDGE MATHERS HERE

Defendant of Today in Trial Case Files Another Suit.

Alleges He Was Buncoed by an Old and Trusted Playmate.

With the jury on hand, and Judge Mathers here from Sidney, the attorney for the plaintiff in the case of Guncheon vs. Miller assigned for trial today made the startling announcement that he had forgotten all about the case, and was not ready for trial, his client not even being in the city.

Judge Mathers showed his displeasure, but was generous, and allowed a temporary postponement of the case, dismissing the jury for the day. Judge Mathers remained here and is taking up all questions of minor import which require the attention of a common pleas judge, during the illness of Judge Cunningham.

HIS BOYHOOD FRIEND

Deceived Him and Sold Him "Salted" Oil Property.

W. A. Miller, the defendant in the case which was set for trial today and postponed, is the plaintiff in a new suit placed on the common pleas docket this morning by his attorney, Kent W. Hughes.

Miller brings an action for damages based on fraud against Henry S. Smith, a well known resident oil operator of Spencerville. Though an oil man all his life, plaintiff claims he was sold a "salted" property over in the Spencer township field.

Miller, in his salutatory, makes claim to boyhood companionship with Smith, claiming they were raised together and that Smith had known him all ways. He says that he told Smith he had $10,000 in cash back in 1903, and that Smith said it was bad policy not to have money working, and acting as his adviser sold him certain oil property located on the Jacob A. Keith farm, in Spencer township, and a lease on the Peter Kephart farm adjoining Miller alleges that Smith represented the ten wells on the Keith farm were making 55 barrels a day, when in fact they were making but 15 1/2 barrels, and the casing was defective in one, though the property was represented, he says, to have been in first-class condition. He then makes claim that he was damaged by this alleged fraud and misrepresentation in the sum of $7,000, for which he prays judgment against Smith.

She Seeks Divorce on Grounds of Desertion and Neglect.

HIGH TRIBUTE

Of Esteem a Consolation to Family.

Rev. Manning Spoke Fitting Words at the Bier of Departed.

THE O'BRIEN FUNERAL

Solemn Services Held at St. Rose Were Largely Attended.

Remains Will Be Taken to Titusville For Final Interment.

St. Rose church was filled this morning with the many sorrowing friends of Mr. John O'Brien, late superintendent of the Buckeye Pipe Line company, who died suddenly in Nowata, I. T., last Saturday night.

Nine o'clock was the hour set for the services, but it was almost 9:30 o'clock before the cortege reached the church. Solemn high mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Manning, assisted by Rev. Wm. Russ, of Wapakoneta, as deacon, and Rev. A. J. Manning, subdeacon.

During the solemn services the Knights of Columbus choir rendered sacred music fitting to the sad occasion. The Buckeye Pipe Line offices were closed and the employees together with a large delegation of Lima council Knights of Columbus attended the funeral services in a body. In the funeral sermon preached by the Rev. A. E. Manning, a noble tribute was paid to his deceased parishioner. The discourse was eloquent and full of consolation to the bereaved family who were so rudely and suddenly deprived of a noble husband and kind and indulgent father. At the conclusion of the services the body was returned to the home 538 west Spring street, to await the arrival of the 11:05 p. m. train over the Erie when the relatives will start with the remains on their sad journey to Titusville, Pa., where the body will be placed in the John Newell vault.

The honorary pall-bearers were J. B. Kerr, A. C. Beason, W. H. Duffield, E. R. Curtin, H. S. Serroford, P. C. Doyle, of Oil City; J. W. McMahon, of Toledo; M. B. Daley, of Cleveland. The active pall-bearers were R. L. Bates, Dan Lynch, John Mainor, D. C. Stewart, T. A. McLaughlin, M. J. Callahan, Martin Moran, W. L. Connolly. Relatives and friends from out of town included Dan O'Day, Jr., of New York; Mrs. Newell and Miss Newell and Glenn Newell, of Brawford, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Macpherson, of Buffalo; Mrs. J. H. Snow, Mr. A. J. Stone, of Buffalo; John T. Murphy and Miss Murphy and Miss Ford, of Chicago, and others.
